

13th European Nutrition Conference

Malnutrition in an Obese World: European Perspectives

Hosted by Federation of European Nutrition Societies (FENS)
and The Nutrition Society

15 - 18 October 2019
Dublin, Ireland

www.fens2019.org

Welcome

The Nutrition Society are pleased, as hosts, to invite you to the 13th FENS European Nutrition Conference in Dublin, Ireland. The European Nutrition Conference is held once every four years, and is the premier European meeting in its field.

The scientific programme will feature:

- » the best international speakers covering the spectrum of nutritional science,
- » oral and poster presentations,
- » workshops sessions,
- » industry symposia,
- » satellite symposia and
- » panel debates.

Themes

THEME 1: Determinants and drivers across the lifecycle

THEME 2: Assessment and novel technologies

THEME 3: Current metabolic perspectives

THEME 4: The food environment

THEME 5: Hot topic - to be announced ahead of the conference

Confirmed Plenary Speakers

Plenary 1: Dr Joao Breda, World Health Organisation

Title: Drivers across the lifecycle of malnutrition in an obese world - European perspectives

Plenary 2: Professor Arne Asturp, University of Copenhagen, Denmark

Title: Personalised dietary management of obesity based on biomarkers of glucose metabolism and microbiota

Plenary 3: Professor Ellen Blaak, Maastricht University, Netherlands

Title: Current metabolic perspectives on malnutrition in obesity

Plenary 4: Professor Lauren Lissner, University of Gothenburg, Sweden

Title: Food environment: insights on lessons learned and future challenges

Dublin is one of Europe's great cities with a reputation for hospitality and for ensuring a fabulous welcome. Its cultural pedigree is renowned, with the famous Book of Kells in Trinity College, vibrant traditional music scene and status as UNESCO City of Literature. There will be plenty to keep you entertained outside of the scientific sessions and formal conference events.

Dublin is compact enough for conference events and accommodation to be a short walk away, while large enough to allow one to get lost wandering its museums, music venues, restaurants and, of course, traditional pubs.

Join us in Dublin for the 13th FENS European Nutrition Conference and enjoy true Irish hospitality.

KEY DATES

» Call for Abstracts Open
26th September 2018

» Registration Open
7th November 2018